

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to methods of assaying nucleotide cyclase activity. In particular, the present invention relates to fluorescence-based methods of assaying guanylyl and adenylyl cyclase activity.

5